LABOR LEADERS IN CONFERENCE

Plan to Raise Money for Defense of McNamara.

GOMPERS ON CONTEMPT CASE

Says that Justice Wright, in Appointing Committee of Attorneys to Investigate Bucks Matter Shows Vindictiveness.

Indianapolis, June 29.—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor and trade unions are gathering in Indianapolis for a conference. The conference is to decide on a plan for raising money for the defense of John J. McNamara and James B. McNamara, who are charged with complicity in dynamite outrages at Los Angeles.

Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. and L., arrived from Washington, accompanied by Frank Morrison, secretary of the A. F. of L., and Thomas F. Tracy and G. P. Foster, of the executive council of the federation.

Mr. Gompers refused to discuss the McNamara case, or the means that may be adopted to raise the defense fund. He talked freely on the contempt case at Washington, directed against himself, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison. Referring to the action of Justice Wright, of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, in appointing a committee of attorneys to investigate the action of the labor leaders in the Bucks stove company case and the finding of the committee against the labor men, Gompers said the whole proceeding showed a spirit of "personal vindictiveness on the part of Justice Wright."

"Any judge with a decent regard for fairness and impartiality would have allowed the case to remain in the position in which the supreme court of the United States placed it after it had been reversed," said Gompers.

"Justice Wright, in pursuing this matter, was displaying his personal spleen. He had previously exhibited it when he rendered his decision which later was reversed. He spent two hours and a half in exhorting Mitchell, Morrison and myself, denouncing us as though we were footpads, house-breakers or highwaymen."

FUNERAL OF PUBLIC CUP IS SATURDAY

STATE LAW GOES INTO EFFECT MAKING USE OF CUP UNLAWFUL.

The public drinking cup is nearing its death. For on Saturday of this week the new state law prohibiting the placing of any cups in public drinking places becomes effective. In Dixon the law does not affect many institutions. The hotels, city hall, Y. M. C. A. building, court house, depots and some of the schools are the only places where the cups will have to be discarded and individual paper cups or bubbling sanitary fountains installed.

PUT CURB UPON SUNDAY'S TONGUE

With the intention of curbing the vocabulary of Billy Sunday, the evangelist, who is to open a religious campaign in that city next week, the city council of Wheeling, W. Va., last evening passed an ordinance providing a fine for any person who, in a public address, uses vile or vulgar language.

CHANGE MADE IN STORE OWNERSHIP

Alfred Hughes yesterday purchased of A. S. Sherman his grocery store at 97 Galena avenue and will hereafter be in charge of the business. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman are contemplating moving to Aurora, where Mr. Sherman expects to go into business. Mr. Hughes, although a young man, has had some experience in the business and will doubtless succeed in this new venture.

Maude Baxter Morris and Earl Bishop have been engaged to feature a new song "I Wonder Why the Moonlight Always Makes Me Think of Love" at the Family Theatre next Sunday evening. Mr. Kline has arranged to publish the song which he will have on the market within a few days.

MRS. HARRIET HIGLEY DIED IN POLO

A FORMER DIXON WOMAN AND MOTHER OF HENRY HIGLEY OF THIS CITY.

Mrs. Harriet J. Higley, a former resident of Dixon and mother of Henry A. Higley of North Crawford avenue, died at the home of her son, Charles Higley, at Polo, at 12 o'clock last night, death resulting from cancer of the stomach, with which she had suffered for some time. Mrs. Higley's death followed confinement to her bed of but two weeks. The funeral will be held Saturday, and interment will be in the Polo cemetery. The deceased was 76 years of age, and aside from the two sons and three nieces, she has no survivors.

DIXON TOWNSHIP VALUE $10,000,000

FIGURES TAKEN FROM ASSESSOR EASTMAN'S BOOKS WERE FILED TODAY.

The total valuation of taxable property in Dixon township is close to $10,000,000, according to the figures of Assessor Chas. Eastman, who has completed his work for the year and turned the books over to the county officials this afternoon.

The value of the real estate as placed by Mr. Eastman is $7,097,732, the assessed valuation of this being one-third, or $2,335,911. This amount is some less than that of last year. However, it was impossible to determine the exact figures this afternoon.

The value of personal property is very close to $3,000,000, in fact so close that it can practically be called that amount. The value of the personal property Mr. Eastman finds to be about $42,000 larger than last year.

THINKS SOLDIERS' OUTING IS "SOFT"

LIVE ON FAT OF LAND INSTEAD OF TWO WEEKS SPENT IN ROUGHING IT.

VETERAN IS RATHER REMINISCENT

Glad to Welcome the Militia to Dixon, However, for the August Encampment.

Dixon, June 26, 1911.
Editor Telegraph,
Dixon, Ill.

Dear Sir:
The Illinois National Guard, who are to camp near Dixon next August, are, judging from the published list of "Proposals for Stores," a very fastidious and particular organization, who expect to be dined in a strictly epicurean fashion, etc.

Now what do you think of this? They want cream and sugar in their coffee, buttah on their bread, roast beef, ham and eggs, for breakfast, all at the state's expense! There are two items which have been omitted, however, and a requisition should be put in at once by the commissary department—napkins and finger-bowls—and we shall not be surprised to learn of their wanting the citizens to take them up to the Nachusa House for a Sunday dinner. Such extravagance has never been heard of before.

I have been asked to write and tell you that we don't like it! You don't suppose for a minute that we can sit still and read that bill of fare and look back with any sort of pleasure to the kind of menu we were served with, and not say anything, do you? Of course we know it's none of our affair—we should "mark time" and say nothing, and forget it—but what we want to know is, what they have done to deserve such treatment.

Some one will be benefited by it, of course. The lucky bidders will have a chance to get rid of a lot of shelf-worn goods. It has been done before, and soldiers do much better on it than they do on rich food.

We did. We refer to a particular well advertised ocean trip. But there were some of us who were not strong on ocean travel, and prefer to read of "Round the World Tours from the fiction of folders issued by the various steamship companies. Private yachts are highly spoken of, but you'll notice that those who own them generally travel by auto or rail.

It isn't so bad on land, but there were some of us—I distinctly remember sailors or four—who were the poorest sailors you ever saw.

On that trip, everybody got to know how everybody else felt in about two hours out—and was sorry for it all the way over. Now if the trip is stormy (and it was), you learn to know the taste of all your vital organs; your stomach feels like it was taking a ride on a merry-go-round, without your consent; the waves were so high you couldn't see over them, let alone heave over them—and be it known there was considerable heaving being done. If you have had experience, you may have noticed that some things—especially canned salmon, which had been "canned" for several years—don't taste as good coming up as it did going down. Does it, Joe?

And think of the sympathy we got! I have some of it in mind now. We had some of those kindhearted criminals, who had never been sick in their lives, who went around gloating over poor, forlorn wretches, whose only ambition in life was to expire quickly while they felt nice and hollow; then we had those who were continually kicking about what they had to eat, or telling us (we didn't want to eat) what they would like to have—and asking if you didn't feel like a soft boiled egg on toast for breakfast, when you feel more like a lobster salad.

But I will say this. Our accommodations were excellent. There was no complaint on that score, as each one of us had a nice private stateroom all to ourselves—about the size of a lockbox at the P. O. but rather uncomfortable for one with long legs. Of course, if we'd been a woman, things would have been different. A woman would have gone to work right away to tidy up and, no doubt, if she had the materials handy, she would have made a lot of throws and things that a woman calls a cozy corner, mainly because it's not; but being just high privates in the rear rank, we did not go to any unnecessary trouble.

But this has nothing to do with the encampment in August. We hope for them a good time while in our beautiful city; we trust the hospital department will have on hand a good supply of dyspepsia tablets for those who may be so indiscreet as to eat too much; we also hope that it rains while they are here—let it just pour—and get those nice khaki uniforms all wet; we hope they may be drilled about seventeen times per day; we hope again that it will be good and hot—about 98 in the shade, (with no shade). It will do them good and give them an appetite. Welcome to our city! Let us rise and sing, "Every Little Hardack Has a Wormie All Its Own."

WAGON FACTORY OPEN TO PUBLIC

SATURDAY WILL BE INSPECTION DAY FOR THE PUBLIC.

INVENTOR TO DEMONSTRATE BOX

Citizens and Farmers Invited by Mr. Melrose to See Product of New Factory.

It has been announced that the American Wagon company plant in this city will start operations Wednesday, July 5th, which is a source of gratification to the citizens who have great hopes of the building up of a thriving institution here. There is every evidence to back these hopes and in order to let the people of Dixon and vicinity see just what the new factory and its product is like, the management today announces that the plant will be open all day Saturday, July 1st, for inspection. Mr. Melrose, the patentee of the convertible wagon box which is to be manufactured, is in the city and will be at the factory all day Saturday to demonstrate his invention. Hundreds of people should go to the factory Saturday, for they will surely be interested in what they will see.

Not only will they be interested in the product of the plant, but the public will be interested in the ingenious machinery which automatically shapes the pressed steel parts forming the joints of the wagon box. The new wagon box is the strongest convertible box manufactured and there is not another which can so conveniently be changed to suit every requirement of the farmer or teamster.

WATERWAY BILL ON THE ROCKS

BANK DIRECTORS TO MEET SATURDAY

The directors of the Union State bank will hold a meeting on Saturday July 1, at which time the semi-annual dividend will be declared.

WHAT OCCURS TONIGHT.
Woodman Social—Union Hall.

REBEKAHS TO MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

THIS DISTRICT REPORTED TO BE ONE OF MOST ACTIVE IN THE STATE.

EXPERIENCING GOOD GROWTH

Two More Lodges Will Probably Be Formed This Year—Membership Growing.

At the closing session of the district school of instruction of the Daughters of Rebekah, held yesterday in Rock Falls, Dixon was chosen as the place for the 1912 meeting, which means that next year the representatives of nine lodges will meet here for a two days' session. As a result of this decision on the part of the delegates, the Dixon members who attended and extended the invitation are greatly pleased.

While the district is one of the smallest in the state, there being some with 25 lodges, it is one of the most enthusiastic and best, according to the statements of the state president, Mrs. Dora L. North, who was the instructor at the meeting which has just closed, and the recent organization of Odd Fellows lodges at Amboy and Lee Center means that within the next year two auxiliary lodges will be formed and the meeting in 1912 will be for the delegates of eleven lodges, instead of nine, the present number.

Mrs. Elson President.

Two Dixon ladies were honored by the organization, Mrs. Mary Elson being chosen president and Miss Emma Kentner was elected to the office of secretary. Mrs. Hattie Ebersole of Sterling is treasurer. The vice president is Mrs. Mary McMullen of Morrison. The Dixon degree staff will exemplify the work at the meeting next year, thus reducing the per capita tax, by doing away with the expenses for bringing another team to the meeting.

The reports at the meeting show that seven of the lodges in the district, all that were represented at the meeting, have a total membership of 650, and that there are over $700 in their treasuries. There were but four deaths of members in the entire district last year and 80 new members were added to the different organizations.

CONTRACT FOR 30 SADDLE HORSES

HUBBARD & BLACKBURN GET CONTRACT FOR I. N. G. ENCAMPMENT.

The first contract for the encampment of the Third Brigade, I. N. G., was made today and a Dixon firm is thereby benefitted. The contract is for furnishing the saddle horses for the use of the officers and the governor and adjutant general, who will be here one day each week.

Mr. Salza, who has the contract to furnish the horses for all of the encampments, came to Dixon this morning and called on the livery men, and before leaving the city this afternoon he awarded the contract to furnish thirty saddle horses for two weeks to Hubbard & Blackburn, the local liverymen. The Dixon firm will at once secure the use of saddle horses to the required number, and will bring them all to Dixon the week before the encampment and have them ready.

SAW FIFTEEN BATTLES IN MEXICO

Sheriff Reid this morning received a post card from Mull Neiman, a former member of Company G of this city. The writer states that he saw fifteen battles of the Mexican revolution, in which nothing but a few burrows were killed. Neiman, in addressing the sheriff, expresses the opinion that "You, Bob Lloyd and Bud could do as much as all of them."

Misses Bess and Esther Young of South Dixon township will leave tomorrow for a week's visit at the Dr. H. Nevins home.

TEN HOUR LAW IN FORCE SATURDAY

CHANGE MUST BE MADE IN THE HOURS OF WOMEN AND GIRL EMPLOYEES.

On and after July 1, day after tomorrow, it will be unlawful for any employer of women in any trade occupation, to keep the women working any longer than ten hours each day. There are two exceptions to the law, the exceptions being that women engaged in domestic service and in farm work may work longer than the ten hours prescribed by law.

The text of the paragraph, which broadens the scope of laws regarding the employment of women, is:

No female shall be employed in any mechanical or mercantile establishment, or laundry, or hotel, or restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment, or office thereof, or in any place of amusement, or by any person, firm or corporation engaged in any express or transportation or public utility business, or by any common carrier, or in any public institution, incorporated or not incorporated in this state, more than ten hours during any one day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than ten hours during the twenty-four hours of any one day.

Local Arrangements.

The local merchants and employers of women have not reached any united opinion regarding obedience of the law, but it is thought that most of the merchants will allow their lady clerks enough time off during the day to reduce their working time to the required limit.

The Western Union Telegraph company recently met the provisions of the law when they added another operator, Miss Marie Gorham, to the local office, thus making it possible for the two operators to handle the business of the office without any violation of the act.

CONGRESSMAN IS BUSY ON HIS FARM

MCKENZIE BACK FROM WASHINGTON AND MAKING HAY IN LITERAL SENSE.

As there is little doing just now in the house of representatives at Washington, D. C., Congressman J. C. McKenzie has returned to his home at Elizabeth for several weeks. This week the congressman is on his farm near Galena assisting in putting up the hay crop. Congressman is never happier than when on his farm. He gives the farm his personal attention and takes great delight in the work.

Senator Cummins Presents Reciprocity Amendments.

BORAH ALSO IN OPPOSITION

Census Committee Reports Favorably Bill to Redistrict Country and Provide for House of 433 Members.

Washington, June 29.—For about four hours the senate considered Canadian reciprocity and then adjourned. Senator Cummins of Iowa, and Senator Borah of Idaho, were the speakers. Both opposed the reciprocity bill.

Senator Cummins proposed a series of amendments to that measure which comprehended a considerable widening of the purpose of that legislation as asked by President Taft.

In general the Cummins amendments provide additions to the free list of the United States of practically all the manufactured products arising from the raw material furnished by the farm, including meats, flours and meals, prepared vegetables, prepared cereals, maple sugar and sirup and fruit juices.

In addition Senator Cummins proposed the free admission from Canada to the United States of coal of all kinds and logs and timber, which he declared to be the only concessions demanded by him from Canada. The amendments then provide also for the free admission from Canada of agricultural implements, portable and traction engines and boilers, automobiles, iron and steel products and ores, cutlery, clocks and watches, leather and its manufactured products, and woolen, cotton and silk threads and clothes, provided that Canada shall not maintain export duties or license fees upon the exports of all the articles enumerated in the bill, including wood pulp and print paper and coal and timber and logs, and also provided that transportation rates upon imports from Canada are not unreasonably low as compared with United States products going the other way.

Senator Borah declared that the Republicans who are supporting the bill had completely changed front on the question and taken the Democratic view. He read from the Republican platform and from text books in the campaign handbooks declarations to prove what he had asserted.

Senator McLean of Connecticut, proposed an amendment to the federal constitution by a resolution which he introduced giving the United States power to legislate for the protection of the migratory birds.

The census committee, of which Senator LaFollette is chairman, considered the bill authorizing a reapportionment of the country for representatives in congress on the basis of population shown by the last census. The committee voted seven to three to report the bill favorably in the form it came from the house, which provided for a house of representatives to consist of 433 members and which would reduce the representation of none of the states of the Union. Senator LaFollette asked for a week in which to file a minority report. Senators DuPont and McLean voted with LaFollette against reporting the bill favorably.

Pleasant Surprise.

Mrs. Flora Stultz of Franklin Grove was pleasantly surprised Wednesday afternoon at the summer cottage of her sister, Mrs. Ramsey, in Assembly park. The happy little affair was given in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Stultz. She has been very ill and was taken from the hospital to the Ramsey cottage Wednesday, so the gathering of the six guests was a celebration also, one might say, of her recovery. It must be a quiet celebration, for one just returning from the hospital. One of the happiest people present was little Raymond Stultz, who is nine years old. He baked the beautiful white birthday cake by himself, frosted it with pink icing and had a flag in the center with a wreath and also had small heart decorations on it, and he was very proud of his handiwork. The cake was a thing of beauty and tasted as good as it looked. The guests enjoyed a delicious luncheon and a pleasant social time and left in the afternoon for their home in Franklin Grove. Mrs. Stultz' friends hope for the continuation of her recovery.

ROYAL GUESTS DEPART

Special Trains Follow One Another from London.

Duke of Connaught Bids the Visitors Good-By on Behalf of King—Foreign Warships Go.

London, June 29.—The heirs to most of the thrones of Europe, the princes and princesses, and special ambassadors who have been royal guests during the coronation festivities, have said farewell to King George and Queen Mary, and the greater number have already left London. Throughout the day special trains bound for the coasts renewed one another. The Duke of Connaught attended each departure on behalf of the king, while the regular embassies were present to say good-by to the envoys of their respective nations. The great coronation fleet at Spithead also dispersed, the foreign warships saluting the flags of Great Britain and the commander in chief as they passed out.

Killed in C. & O. Wreck. Lexington, Ky., June 29.—East-bound Chesapeake & Ohio train is reported to have jumped the track at Aden, seventy miles east. Engineer Matt Kelly is said to have been killed and the fireman badly scalded. None of the passengers is reported injured.

THE CANADIAN POLICY.

Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior for the Dominion of Canada, says:

There isn't enough money in all England or the United States to buy a single acre.

We have millions of acres to give, but not a foot to sell.

The reason is that the dominion wants citizens, not speculators. The conditions of the gift are use and occupation.

The American people have squandered their patrimony of land on railroads, lumber, coal, oil and mining monopolies, and when at this late day they try to save what they have left they are denounced as conservative cranks who want to tie up natural resources for the benefit of posterity.

In the meantime some of the best of all our natural resources, our enterprising home-building people, are going to Canada. We have driven them away from home by giving the heritage to speculators.

FEET CUT OFF BY

INTERURBAN CAR. Belvidere, June 29.—Jacob Thomsen is at St. Joseph hospital here with both feet amputated and in a critical condition as the result of an accident on the Elgin & Belvidere interurban road yesterday near Marango. His recovery is considered doubtful.

Thomsen is a farm hand but quit his job several days ago and made frequent trips to town for liquor. The car ran over his feet as he lay under the edge of the platform at Smith's crossing.

FREIGHT AGENTS

MET IN DIXON. The regular monthly meeting of the freight agents of the Illinois Central was held in Dixon yesterday. The agents from Madison, Monroe, Rockford, Freeport and other cities were in attendance.

Dramatic Notes

FAMILY THEATRE

Manager Plein of the Family theatre has secured two good acts for the last half of the week. Marcous, the Shadowgraphic Creation, is considered the best in his line. The feature will be the Big Cycling Pantomime called The Isle of Joy. This is the funniest thing in vaudeville. The pictures for tonight are The Humble Ministry and A Knight of the Road.

HART MAKES GOOD ON STREATOR JOB

GAS PLANT IS TO BE REBUILT AT A TOTAL COST OF $10,000.

The many friends of Julian Hart, formerly of this city and now superintendent of the gas plant at Streator, will be pleased to know that as a result of the success of his work in that city the Illinois Valley Gas and Electric company are about to rebuild there at a cost of $10,000. When Mr. Hart took the position at Streator last year the gas service was in a deplorable condition and was a losing proposition to the owners. Mr. Hart was told if he could make the service profitable, the company would rebuild according to his wishes. The announcement that a new plant is to be constructed is an indication that Mr. Hart made good, and has a position there of importance.

Charles Kean's Affiliations.

Charles Kean, the actor, could not pronounce the consonants "m" and "n." In the first scene with Jarvis in "The Gamester" he began by inquiring, "Well, Jarvis, what says the world of me? I'll tell thee what it says. It calls me a false friend, a faithless hand, a cruel father—in one short word, it calls me Galester!" In Shylock he was wont to say: "You take by life. When do you take the beans whereby I live?"

But his most unfortunate slip occurred in the last line of "Money," where Evelyn says that in order to enjoy the good things of life we require "plenty of money." In this situation Kean always brought the curtain down with a roar by sarcastically remarking that the one thing necessary to complete their happiness is "plenty of putty."

Insulted.

"My husband has a remarkable collection of old curiosities," said Mrs. Bilkins, with an air of pride. "Indeed!" said Miss Sharpnough. "Was he collecting when he married you?"

"Why, yes," replied Mrs. Bilkins innocently. "That's what I thought," remarked the other spitefully.

And then Mrs. Bilkins saw what her dear friend meant. They meet as strangers now.

Anniversary Thoughts.

GETTING BACK AT LEE.

It was a sorry day for Lee O'Neil Browne when he stood up in wrath on the floor of the house and spoke sneeringly of the country press—"peanut-sized," he called the rural newspaper. This is the way President Sheets of the Illinois Press association, editor of the Oblong Oracle, comes back:

"Men who have been indicted for bribery—and judging from the bar of public opinion, some have and others should have been found guilty by the courts—questionable lawmakers, men whose reputations are so foul, whose official acts so pronounced as to chill the blood of lovers of righteousness and whose official and political records are so bedaubed with scandal as to be nauseating to the nostrils, are in a poor way to minimize the good influence of the spotless country press in Illinois, or to tell it what its God-bounded duties are."

That ought to tingle the thick hide of even Lee O'Neil Browne, but it probably will not.

FOURTH OF JULY MATINEE.

The fair association will give a racing program at the fair grounds in Oregon July 4, when a fine program is assured. Four harness races, mile heats, best two in three, and a gentlemen's road race, walk, trot and run, more fun than a basket of monkeys. Admission to all parts of the grounds 25 cents. Rigs free. Racing starts at 1:30. M. E. Bacon, Secretary.

Unexpected Guests

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc. Dealers everywhere; or write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

"PIGS IS PIGS."

Why is the curl in a hog's tail? To show that it isn't a pig, said the learned lawyer defending Harry Koutz, charged in an Indiana court with having purloined two "squealers."

Not so, said the honorable counsel representing the dignity and majesty of the Hoosier Commonwealth; a pig's a pig till it's a hog, curl or no curl.

So it was that this heffy question of law was put up to Judge Roberts of Booneville, Ind., for judicial interpretation.

"Is a pig still a pig after its tail has curled, or has it then become a hog?"

You see, the indictment against Koutz charged him with stealing two pigs. But the animals had nicely curled tails and the defense maintained that they—the animals; not the defendants—were hogs, and consequently by the legal document should be quashed or something done to it like that.

Talk about the momentousness of the Standard Oil decision!

This pig tail case had backed into the dim and distant background. All Hoosierdom listened with bated breath for the fateful words of the Solomonian decision.

"Pigs is pigs" with or without curl read the judge.

But, Judge, WHY the curl in the tail, then?

HIGH WATER IN WEST.

NEW WIRES IN

TO WAGON FACTORY

The linemen of the Lee County Lighting company, under the direction of Foreman Will Cahill, have completed the work of stringing the new lines from the power house to the American wagon factory. The job was a big one, as heavier wires had to be strung the entire distance and much of the work was among other wires carrying heavy currents. The work was done quickly and without shutting off the juice in any part of the city. It is a creditable piece of work and much of the credit belongs to Mr. Cahill.

WATERWAY BILL PASSED

Deneen Measure Amended So As To Be a Conservation Scheme.

Springfield, Ill., June 29.—The Deneen-Johnson waterway bill, amended so as to be strictly a waterpower site and conservation measure, passed the senate by a vote of 33 to 7. The passage of the bill was attended by no sensational features.

The bill was received by the house at 4 o'clock. Prospects for its passage there are better than those which the former bill met. It is now in the shape of a compromise which the anti-Deneen men offered the waterway men last week.

NEWSBOY FIRST DEPOSITOR

He Starts Bank Account with U. S. at St. Charles with $1.

St. Charles, Ill., June 29.—James Nichols, a newsboy, was the first depositor in the St. Charles Postal Savings bank just opened. He deposited one dollar.

Many other deposits large and small by old and young were made. It is the first postal savings bank in either Kane county or the eleventh congressional district. Banks will be opened at Geneva, Batavia and Aurora within a few weeks.

RABIES IN CHICAGO

Eighteen Persons Are Said To Be Victims of Mad Dogs.

Chicago, June 29.—Reports of more victims of attacks by dogs were made following the statement of Assistant Health Commissioner Kocher that eighteen persons in Chicago were suffering with rabies. The latest victims were bitten by "pets" with which they were playing.

Chief of Police McWeeny has issued stringent orders to all patrolmen to shoot all dogs found at large without muzzles.

GIRLS FLEE FROM FIRE

Flames on the Second Floor of the Jevne Store in Chicago.

Chicago, June 29.—Twenty-five girls were driven to the street in panic when fire broke out on the second floor of the grocery store of C. Jevne & Co., 33 South Wabash avenue.

The fire was caused by an overheated motor, which set fire to a pile of paper and filled the building with smoke, and the flames did considerable damage to the coffee and other valuable stock on the second floor.

Illinois Mayors' Convention. Peoria, Ill., June 29.—Two hundred mayors and their wives from the state of Illinois met in this city in convention of the Illinois Mayors' association.

The Norman's Coronation.

A peculiar incident happened at the crowning of William the Conqueror. After the coronation oath, in which the new monarch promised to protect the church and to execute judgment and mercy, the archbishop put the question to the assembled crowd: "Will ye have this prince to be your king?"

A clamorous response of assent startled the Norman garrison. They believed the English had revolted and took up their swords and torches. They set fire to the house, the flames spread, and there was a general alarm.

The English, hearing of the plunder, rushed out of church. The bishops and clergy who remained were in such confusion that they could hardly go through with the act of crowning William heard the tumult, but could not conjecture the cause and sat trembling at the foot of the altar. No great mischief was done by the fire, but the occurrence laid the foundation of a long enmity between the English and Normans.

The Shakespearean Sonnets.

There are many excellent reasons for thinking that Shakespeare did not write all of the sonnets that have come down to us associated with his name. It is a fact that he never published them, never claimed their authorship, never acknowledged them, and never, so far as can be ascertained, gave his consent or authority to have them published in his name. Some of the sonnets imply in their author certain physical defects, pecuniary embarrassments and other things which could not have been applied to Shakespeare, but which might very well have fitted Marlowe, or William Herbert, or Henry Wriothesley, or any one of a half dozen other young men in Shakespeare's circle. It is as good as settled that several, if not many, of the sonnets were written by other hands than those of the author of "Hamlet" and "King Lear," though, of course, the task of naming the real authors is an impossible one.—New York American.

Smoky Achill.

One of the smokiest places on earth is undoubtedly Achill, off the coast of Mayo, Ireland. A smoky atmosphere is not an unknown thing in any Irish cabin, but in Achill the greater the smoke the higher the satisfaction of the natives, for there smoke means potatoes, and potatoes mean food. It is to one of the methods of procuring food that the island owes the smoky condition of its cabin. Soot he must have or the potatoes will not grow. In the filled fields he erects little huts, called "scrawboghies," formed by "scraws," or sods, of heather from the mountains. Within these huts he keeps a fire of peat burning for six weeks or two months, at the end of which period the scraws are, from their continual impregnation with smoke, transformed into soot. Turf or peat is abundant on the island, and the large fires cost nothing.—Harper's Weekly.

Diana of Ephesus.

Ephesus was one of the twelve Ionic cities of Asia Minor and was situated in Lydia, near the mouth of the river Caystrus. According to Strabo, it was founded by Androclus, son of Codrus. It ultimately came into possession of the Romans, and in the time of Augustus it was the greatest place of trade of all the cities of Asia west of the Taurus. St. Paul resided there three years, but the destruction of its great temple by the Goths in 269 A. D. gave it a blow from which it never recovered. This was the famous temple of Diana. Near the western extremity of the town are still to be seen some massive structures, which have since 1868 been carefully excavated. It is now certain that these stand on the famous temple site.

A Famous Windmill.

Nantucket possesses what is believed to be the oldest windmill for grinding grain in actual operation in America. Nathan Wilbur, a Nantucket sailor, who had seen the busy windmills of Holland as he sailed abroad, built it out of timbers of wrecked ships in 1746. There has never been a day in all the 165 years since that time when the mill has not been busy. There is always a wind to turn its outstretched wings.

What He Would Pay to Hear.

"Clemens," said a friend to Mark Twain some years ago, "wouldn't you like to go and hear Ingersoll on Moses this evening?"

"No," replied the humorist; "I wouldn't give 10 cents to hear Ingersoll on Moses, but I would give $10 to hear Moses on Ingersoll."

A Triumph of Ratiocination.

Damocles saw the sword suspended by the hair.

"Since it can't cut the hair, I judge your wife has been sharpening her pencil," he remarked to the king.—New York Sun.

The Post's Spur.

"This is a great poem. You must have been thinking of something inspiring when you wrote it."

"I was. I was thinking of the installment man."—Pittsburg Post.

Unfulfilled Ambition.

We confess to a long unfulfilled ambition, and that is to be able to appear in a new suit or hat and not have everybody in the office comment on it.—Atlanta Journal.

A Well Pleased Man.

"Why don't you get married, colonel?"

"I am not so cruel. It would make me happy and a hundred unhappy."—Fliegende Blätter.

ORDER FOR MRS. M'NAGAL

Threatened with Prosecution for Contempt of Court.

Los Angeles, June 29.—Mrs. Orlie McManigal must appear before Judge Walter Bordwell if she is able to leave her bed and answer a citation for contempt of court, based on her refusal to answer certain questions before the grand jury now investigating the Times explosion. The questions will be asked her again and if she still refuses to answer, she may be committed to the county jail for contempt.

McManigal declared that the charges he has made against the McNamaras are true and that he will not repudiate his confession. He asserts that sympathizers have won his wife away from the prosecution by paying her money and giving her assurances of the future and that he is refused an opportunity to see his children in the hope that the refusal will help break his resolution to tell the truth.

ARBITRATION TREATY READY

President Taft and Ambassador Bryce Agree Upon Important Points.

Washington, June 29.—It was announced at the White House that the Anglo-American arbitration treaty has been agreed upon in every important provision, there now remaining only a few minor details for settlement between the state department and the British foreign office. Ambassador Bryce called upon President Taft and the announcement was made following a conference between the two.

The final negotiations in the work of smoothing out the unimportant points of difference between the state department and the British foreign office will be begun at once and it is hoped that the treaty will be ready for submission to the senate at this session.

Yes, sir—that's the proposition on the new model Oliver No. 5, the Standard Visible Writer.

We not only invite you—we urge you—to take advantage of our Seventeen-Cents-a-Day Purchase Plan.

This plan was devised for the benefit of the many thousands who are renting machines or doing with out them for lack of the ready cash.

In selling you an Oliver Typewriter we meet you more than half way. A small cash payment brings the machine. We will gladly wait while you pay at the rate of Seventeen-Cents-a-Day.

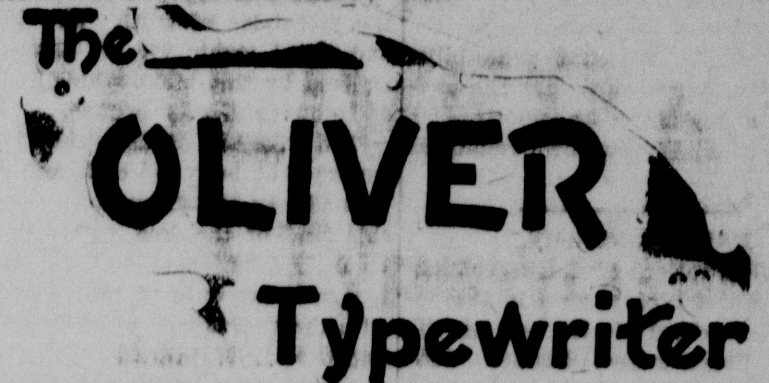

We don't want a cent of security. Just your promise to pay is enough.

Thousands Sold for 17-Cents-a-Day

Since we began selling typewriters on this broad-gauge plan our business has more than doubled. Tons of metal have been turned into thousands of typewriters and sent all over the world to supply the demand for Oliver's—at Seventeen-Cents-a-Day! We have ample capital and confidence to sell typewriters on this plan. Our losses are infinitesimal. The public has justified our confidence in such an impressive manner that today we are just as glad to book orders on the "Penny Plan" as we are for all cash in advance.

Swiftest, Strongest, Simplest, $100 Typewriter

The speed of the Oliver sets a pace that has never yet been equalled. Its strength and endurance are such that it serves you efficiently for a lifetime. No other machine in the $100 class compares with it in simplicity, for we do away with hundreds of parts used on other standard typewriters. The first crude model of the Oliver Typewriter was built from an old wash-boiler and the type of a country print shop. The machine was a curious looking affair, but the principles embodied in its design were destined to revolutionize the typewriter world.

Model No. 5 Wins World's Applause

This model has captivated the public by its wealth of exclusive features which save time and effort, add scores of new uses, and give tremendous gains in efficiency. The new "coat of mail" protects important working parts from dust, gives added strength and stability. The disappearing indicator shows exact printing point and ducks when type strikes the paper. The Vertical and Horizontal Ruling device is a wonderful convenience.

The Automatic Tabulator and the Line-Ruler are Twin Devices. Each supplements and completes the other, in tabulating, invoicing and all kinds of statistical work. The Balance Shifting Mechanism, the Automatic Paper Fingers, the Paper Register, the Back Spacer and other innovations put the finishing touch of perfection to this incomparable writing machine. You get all these immensely valuable improvements, without additional cost, when you buy the Oliver Typewriter for Seventeen-Cents-a-Day.

Send for Book and "17-Cents-a-Day Offer NOW!

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

There are no signboards on the road to success. You have to be guided wholly by your instinct. And so many little sheep paths decoy one, by their first impression of promise that a great many more of us never arrive thither do. Besides, this road, in its more advanced parts is so seldom traveled that it is all grown up with weeds. To be sure, the course has been blazed by pioneers, but the scars on the trees are hard to see and about the only safe guide is a compass.

Let this be your compass—In all things deal square; learn to value your time and the time of others; work to advantage, swing the hard pull for trying places; sleep enough at night when God intended you to sleep, so that your head will be clear during the day, when it was decreed that you should think out your own salvation; speak well of your competitors; watch the leaks in your organization. Discount your bills. And remember always that the saving of money is not as important as the salvation of your own immortal soul.

FALSE ECONOMY.

An illustration of false economy of the worst type is seen in the report of a school election held in the Jersey Ridge school district near Davenport, Ia. An election was held recently to decide upon the question of enlarging the school house. There were many women present at the election and the proposition carried. It was later found that there was some irregularity about the election and another election had to be held. This time the women did not appear to vote and the men turned down the proposition to build an addition to the school building. It is claimed that the school building is not large enough to accommodate all the children, of whom there are about sixty enrolled, and the directors are considering a plan of having half of the children attend school one day and the remainder the next.

We presume these same economical people spend their money readily to build large barns to house their cattle because they expect to get immediate financial return for the care of the live stock, yet they will deny their children the advantages of an education because it costs too much to build a suitable school house. Such short-sightedness is deplorable and their children will live to look back in shame upon the false economy of their fathers in denying them the education which will make them a success in the struggle of life which will face them at maturity.

THE BIBLE IN OUR PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

The reading of the bible, the offering of prayer and the singing of any sacred hymns would be forever debarred by law from every public institution in our land, or under our flag, even from our national congress and state legislature, from every military post and naval station from every battlefield or battleship of our republic, from every public hospital, asylum, should the courts of our country act in accordance with the recent decision of the supreme court of Illinois, which has issued a peremptory mandamus prohibiting the reading of the bible, the repetition of the Lord's prayer or the singing of sacred hymns in the public schools of Illinois.

Having been invited to prepare four camp sermons for our soldiers to be encamped at Sparta, Wis., during the four Sundays of August, in 1910, I have chosen as the subject of one of the addresses: The Bible in Our Public Institutions, because I do not believe the defenders of our flag wish to see the bible banished from every battlefield or battleship or public institution under the Stars and Stripes of America.

A letter received by the writer from a so-called national free-thinkers organization reads in part: We demand that the employment of chaplains in congress in the legislature, in the navy and militia and in prisons, asylums and all other institutions supported by public money, shall be discontinued. We demand that all religious services shall be abolished; and especially that the use of the bible in the public schools, whether ostensibly as a text book or avowedly as a book of religious worship, shall be prohibited. We demand that all laws looking to the enforcement of Christian morality shall be abrogated. The Illinois supreme court has now come to our assistance and has supported the school law of Illinois by prohibiting the reading in the public schools of this abominable, unjust, Christian fetish book.

So it can be seen that these enemies of the bible, prayer and sacred hymns do not desire the religious liberty now guaranteed by the national and state constitutions of our country, but its exact opposite, that irreligious liberty to guard against which our government were organized and our constitutions and laws enacted as safeguards, by those who believed in the bible and who fought and fell to found this republic forever, upon the principles of truth and justice and equal rights for all alike, proclaimed by this bible, when enemies of religious liberty oppose.

The enemies of the bible fail to realize that both the civil and religious liberty which we now enjoy in this land of the free, to which they or their forefathers fled for liberty, is due today only to the open bible with the golden rule of christian love and charity for all mankind: Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, which found its first and fullest expression politically in the Declaration of Independence of the United States in 1776.

As Americans, lovers of liberty and light for all, I ask your attention to this subject as vital to the liberties we love and the land in which we live, using the following report of this address, published in the Inter Ocean of Chicago Monday, July 28, 1910, and beseeching you most earnestly to be faithful students of the bible, that you may be brave soldiers both of the Cross of Christ and the flag of our country.

Yours very sincerely,

SWAT THAT FLY!

There is a thirty years' war for every uniformed soldier on the face of the earth against the mosquito alone. The struggle would be attended by all the adventure, excitement and risk of actual warfare. It would develop to the full the military virtues of courage, initiative, daring and devotion. When it was ended, instead of destroying tens of thousands of human lives, it would have saved millions, and would have added nearly one-fourth to the habitable and productive area of the globe.

Turn every battery of artillery to the world against that angel of the pestilence, the common house fly, and in ten years he would be exterminated, root and branch. With him would go half of our fifty thousand deaths in the every year from the summer diseases of children, two thirds of our dysenteries and cholera morbus, and one-fourth of our typhoid, with not a little of our tuberculosis, our tetanus, and our boils and blood poisonings. —Munsey's Magazine.

WASTE CHIEF CAUSE OF INCREASED COST

BIG COST OF LIVING IS ATTRIBUTED TO UNNECESSARY DEATHS

LOSS DUE TO DISEASE GREAT

One Year's Set-Back From Preventable Diseases Would Pay National Debt.

The increase in the cost of living during the last decade and a half had its initial impulse in the increased cheapness of gold. While this explains the underlying cause of the upward trend in the cost of commodities, it only accounts, however, for less than one-sixth of the maximum increase. The large factors in the increase of the cost of living with the serious consequences it entails on the American people, are not the tariff nor the trusts nor the illegal actions of monopoly, although they have a tremendous influence on the increase of prices generally in the United States. The chief cause of the increase in the cost of living is waste. The largest item is that of waste from unnecessary disease and death, in which tuberculosis is the principal factor.

The four great wastes of today, more lamentable because they are unnecessary, are preventable deaths, preventable sickness, preventable conditions of low physical and mental efficiency, and preventable ignorance, all of which are playing their part in a cruel devastating destruction almost incredible to human minds, and which together operate to bring about an advance in commodity prices by affecting the supply of the necessities of life, restricting supply by taking persons out of productive enterprise, thus making production more expensive. At the same time, while restricting production by the amount of persons it has taken out of industry, this extends by increasing the consumption of goods. As a rule the victim of tuberculosis are all confined to the productive period of life.

A greater number of persons are taken out of productive industry by tuberculosis every year in the United States than there are wage earners in the state of Massachusetts. The researches of the Sage Foundation and similar bodies have demonstrated that the average family income in the United States is less than $800. On this basis the entire family income of 562,500 householders would be required to pay the nation's tuberculosis bill alone.

These figures give some idea of the cost of tuberculosis bill alone. When we come to the total cost to the nation, of all preventable diseases, we find the figures even more startling.

Two years' loss from preventable disease in the United States including tuberculosis, would purchase all the wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, buckwheat, potatoes, hay and tobacco produced last year in the United States.

One year's loss from preventable diseases, including tuberculosis in the United States, would pay the national debt.

It would pay the annual interests on the national debt of the world. It would reimburse England and the Transvaal for the Boer War.

It would repay the cost to the United States of the Spanish-American war.

It is equal to the combined stock and bond issues of all the railroads in the United States.

It would provide for the capitalization of all the national banks in the nation and leave enough money over to build the Panama canal.

SAYS CHILD OF TWO SHOULD STUDY

FATHER OF 12 YEAR OLD GENIUS GIVES HIS VIEWS ON TRAINING

Bitterly assailing the modern methods of education which he characterized as calculated to produce the largest possible number of mediocrities, Prof. Boris Sidis, M. A. Ph., M. D., father of the 12-year-old genius who created a sensation at Harvard, has issued from the press a treatise on the proper way to care for children. Instead of the courses of study given his son having harmed the child, Dr. Sidis insists that the youth is today in far better physical condition than the average school boys four years older.

The proper way to educate a child is to begin at the age of two, says the doctor.

"By answering and encouraging all infantile questions," he continues "the child will acquire knowledge with the same ease as he learns to ride the bicycle. By the tenth year the child will have acquired knowledge with the same ease as he learns to ride the bicycle. By the tenth year the child will have acquired knowledge which at the present time the university graduate obtains only with infinite labor and pain.

Methods Should Be Changed
"The fathers and mothers must change existing methods. The present school system squanders the resources of the country and wastes the energies, the lives of our children.

"The American nation entrusts the fate of its younger generation to the carelessness of young girls or the fire of old maids, all ruled by petting officials encased with educational red tape methods of discipline and routine American school systems are ruled by bureaucrats animated with hatred toward talent and genius.

Says Teaching Standard Low

"Never in the history of mankind have teachers fallen to such a low level of mediocrity as in our country. American children at the ages of ten and eleven are little brutes and waste their most precious years of childhood in the close, overheated school rooms.

"There are in the United States 200,000 insane persons, while the victims of psychopathic mental maladies reach into the millions. This is entirely preventable and is the result of our wretched brain starving and mind crippling method of education."

AUTO PARK ENLARGED.

The management has enlarged the automobile park one and a half and on all days, especially banner days, when hundreds of automobiles are in the park, there will be a reliable man in charge. This is a matter which has not been overlooked by the management, because it is very necessary that the cars, when left alone, should be in charge of someone who is competent. This year auto drivers and owners can leave their cars standing in the park and feel perfectly sure that their car will be intact when they return.

THE BOY SCOUTS ARE PLANTING TREES

Tree planting is a favorite pastime of Boy Scouts. Much interest in this work has been aroused by Gifford Pinchot, former United States forester and present member of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. Pinchot believes in the Boy Scouts and the training that they get in the woods. At his suggestion, the leaders of the Boy Scouts have encouraged planting of trees in the cities and practically every troop in the important cities of this country have given time to the planting of young trees. This work has been done in Boston, New Haven, Conn., Philadelphia, and Johnstown, Pa., Cincinnati, Chicago and other places.

PREDICTS YEAR OF HOT DROUGHT

HICKS HAS MORE INTERESTING AND PESSIMISTIC INFORMATION FOR NATION.

The United States is going dry. This is the prediction of the Rev. Irl Hicks, the weather prognosticator, who bases his statement on astronomical observations.

According to him the country will have a drought, such as experienced in 1901 when it was necessary to give livestock away.

"I look for the conditions of the never to be forgotten drought of 1901 to return during the latter part of the year," he said. "It will probably embrace the crop season of 1912 entailing a woeful condition of agriculture and a woeful condition of agriculture."

"It is an astronomical matter. These things are the effect solely of the location of the sun and the aspect of the solar system. The droughts like almost all others occur at stated intervals. They follow what we call cycles of more or less length. This drought cycle is what we would call a ten year cycle."

This prognostication will probably disturb farmers throughout the country and if verified will mean untold suffering to the entire country.

THE PLAY'S THE THING

We are pleased to reprint from the editorial page of the Chicago Chicago Record Herald another gem written by our local poet and "Hash" man, J. A. Lloyd. It is profusely illustrated by Ralph Wilder, the celebrated cartoonist. Mr. Wilder has recently made another big hit in his cartoon of "The Track Hog." He further says that he likes "Hash" poetry, recognizes it when he sees it, and enjoys "showin' it up." The hero's cigar is of a stogy size. A nickel he pays for two. The heroine sees with unseeing eyes. A difficult thing to do.

The villain sneaks on to be foiled in haste. While lugging the maid away; He grips her fiercely around a waist Which is partly papier mache

The thunder peals from a sheet of tin, While lightning forks through the slits; The tank pours rain, and amidst the din The heroine throws some fits.

Mock is the marriage in every play, A fake is the wedding ring; Just like real life as it is today, And that's why the play's the thing. J. A. Lloyd

MUST REPORT ACCIDENTS BY WIRE AT ONCE

Every common railway carrier will be required after July 1, 1911, to report to the interstate commerce commission at Washington by telegraph "any collision, derailment, or other accident, resulting in the death of one or more persons.

By terms of an order issued by the commission, the report must be sent "immediately after the occurrence of the accident" by a responsible officer of the carrier.

Details of railroad accidents have not in the past been reported promptly to the commission. In many instances they are obtainable only by roundabout methods. The commission being required by law to keep a record of such accidents, decided more drastic rules of reporting were necessary.

DUNBAR COMPANY AT THE ASSEMBLY

MUSICAL ORGANIZATION FAMOUS FROM ONE END OF COUNTRY TO OTHER

A musical aggregation that will give a splendid entertainment at the Dixon Assembly this year is the Dunbar Company.

This organization has been on the Lyceum platform for twelve years and has toured not only many times across America, but in Europe. In all, they have traveled more than three hundred thousand miles which is equal to twelve times around the world. A little more than two thousand concerts. There is scarcely a large course in the United States but that has this company at one time or another. Seventy-five percent of their dates are return dates.

The Dunbar Company's quartet work represents but one portion of the evening's program. As an instrumental trio, their work is greatly appreciated. In this work they use the piano, flute and cello. Both the music which they render is entirely new. In fact, for the most, it is in manuscript form prepared especially for them. Character sketches by Harry Dunbar also add interest and variety to the program. In some places, he is considered the star of the evening.

Carrying two hundred bells, the Dunbars give a demonstration of bell ringing, the likes of which has never before been heard here. They carry a duplicate set of bells for their practice work. They have perfected several improvements in bell construction.

NEW BOOK OF RULES ISSUED BY I. C.

MADE NECESSARY BY THE NEW LAWS PASSED BY THE LEGISLATURE.

A new book of revised rules for the Illinois Central transportation department has been issued and will be effective July 1. A book of rules contains the generalities of railroad, including the rules of the company for the operation of traffic and the conduct of business and the regulations made necessary by the enactment of laws by state legislatures and interstate commerce commission rulings.

The new book of rules is made necessary by the enactment of a number of new railroad laws at the last regular meeting of the state legislature. One of these laws forbids the handling of "drunks" on a passenger train; another forbids the use of public drinking cups.

In order that there may be a uniform interpretation of the new rules, instruction card No. 11 is to go over the northern lines and will give instruction to officials and road men at all important division points. W. E. Knapp, transportation inspector, Dispatcher Jorgenson, Conductor E. H. Baker and Engineer Floyd Mayes are to accompany the car.

MAIL SACK IS RIFLED AT SYCAMORE

TAKEN FROM STATION PLATFORM WHILE STILL LIGHT; MONEY ABSTRACTED.

Mail robbers operated at Sycamore Tuesday night and a sack of mail was taken from the depot platform of the Great Northern, carried to a remote spot in the lumber yards where the thieves went through it at leisure, taking money from a number of letters and valuable papers from others. The sack was cut open and many of the letters were torn and mutilated.

The sack was filled with outgoing mail from Sycamore and was left lying on the platform for the eastbound train.

The thief was a daring one as the sack must have been taken about 8 o'clock while it was still light. The police have a clue to the identity of the man and are working hard on the case. If the culprit is discovered it will mean a federal prison as the government is the victim and Uncle Sam's laws are pretty severe for this violation.

MODERN METHODS IN AN ODD TEST

Order Delivered to Passenger

WIRELESS AND AVIATION FEAT

Burpee Sends for Small Articles,
Which Are Delivered to Him by Airship Before the Olympic Gets Out to Sea.

New York, June 29.—The only modern feature overlooked in the transaction was the presence of a submarine for emergency rescue purposes, for the order came by wireless, was delivered by automobile and aeroplane after arrangements made by telephone.

Such was the scenario of a quickly arranged demonstration of modern practical applications of modern science when W. Atlee Burpee, the millionaire seedsmen of Philadelphia, undertook to play a little joke on his friends in John Wanamaker's store by sending them an order by wireless from the Olympic after she had sailed.

Mr. Burpee had been amused by the recent installation of a wireless apparatus on the roof of Wanamaker's. The Olympic had hardly swung out into the Hudson river than he flashed an order to Wanamaker's for some small articles of personal wear and use, with the request for immediate delivery.

There was just one way to turn the joke back on the seedsmen which was to take it seriously. Messengers and telephone girls were hurried into action by the score.

In five minutes Wanamaker's had Aviator Sopwith on the telephone at Nassau boulevard and had closed a contract with him to deliver a package by aeroplane to the deck of the Olympic.

One of the light delivery automobiles of the store equipment was cranked up, while a professional chauffeur dashed through the store and collected the articles called for by Mr. Burpee and ran with them to the automobile, which was dispatched in a mighty hurry to Nassau boulevard to the aero club's hangars with a package containing Mr. Burpee's order.

Tom Sopwith and Richard Sinclair, a passenger he had invited to go along and verify the delivery "in case Mr. Burpee should dispute it," waited for the package.

The aeroplane sailed out into the air over Nassau boulevard. From this point on the story is told by Mr. Sopwith in his own words:

"We had a little motor trouble at the start, but nothing serious. I was afraid we were late, but when I caught the line of the bay ahead of us and worked along the edge of the narrows, there was the big ship just coming down between Fort Wadsworth and Fort Hamilton. I went right out over her and headed for her when she was squarely between the forts. We were about 800 feet above her. I swooped down until when we crossed her decks we were about 200 feet above the deck. Then I dropped the package. Sinclair let go a bunch of letters.

"Exciting incident?" No. Just business; that's all. Got an order; filled it. Had good luck and delivered the goods. Next."

BISCUITS IN A JIFFY

Wheat from Field Becomes Pastry in Thirty Minutes.

Beloit, Kan., June 29.—What is thought to be the world's time record in harvesting, threshing, milling and making into bread, was made with wheat from the W. S. Gable farm, two miles west of town. The time consumed in doing this was exactly thirty minutes.

At 14 minutes after 3 the team started into the field with the header and one minute later the harvested wheat was in the threshing machine. At 23 minutes past 3 Mr. Gable drove his fouring car up to the mill door and at 3:29 flour had been made from the wheat by the regular process employed by the Beloit Milling company. At 3:30 the flour was delivered at Walker Bros. bakery and their baker made biscuits that were taken from the oven at 3:34, just 30 minutes from the time the header went into the wheat field.

BLOOD SACRIFICE TOO MUCH

Senator Lea, Who Submitted to Transfusion, Returns to Hospital.

Washington, June 29.—Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, weak from the transfusion of blood in an effort to save his wife's life, has returned to the hospital to remain a few days recuperating.

He overtaxed his strength in resuming his duties with the Lorimer investigating committee, and physicians ordered him to bed.

New Los Angeles Paper.

San Francisco, June 29.—Los Angeles on July 4 will have a new 1-cent morning paper, to be published by Edwin E. Earl, a millionaire fruit packer. Earl believes in reform Republicanism and the Evening Express, which he controls, is a strong advocate of the policies of Governor Hiram Johnson.

TILDEN DENIES HE HELD CASH

No Contributions for Lorimer's
Election Paid to Him.

SAYS HE KNEW OF NO FUND

Withheld Books from Helm Committee Because He Knew There Was Nothing in Them Bearing on Subject.

Washington, June 29.—Before the senate committee investigating the election of William Lorimer, Edward Tilden, president of the National Packing company of Chicago, denied that he was the receiver or custodian, or contributions to a Lorimer corruption fund.

Mr. Tilden was mentioned in the testimony of Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, as the person to whom Edward Hines, of the Edward Hines Lumber company, asked Mr. Funk to send a $10,000 contribution.

Mr. Tilden having denied any knowledge of allegations of corruption in Lorimer's election, he said that his company had not contributed any money nor had he ever received contributions from any person or corporation to be used in Mr. Lorimer's behalf.

Tilden said he was interested as a depositor and stockholder in two or three hundred banks in this country and Great Britain. He added that he was treasurer of about thirty corporations. He maintained five personal bank accounts in Chicago and New York.

"How many corporations are you president of?" inquired Senator Kenyon.

"I don't know," replied Tilden.

At the request of counsel for the committee Tilden gave a list of the banks and packing corporations in which he was interested. The members of the committee also took an interest in the private and personal books kept by Tilden. These records, Mr. Tilden said, were "incomplete."

"Do you know anything about the allegations of corruption at Springfield when a United States senator was elected in 1909?" was asked.

"Nothing except what I read in the newspapers," Tilden replied.

Mr. Tilden said he refused to obey the order of the Helm committee of the Illinois legislature to produce his personal books and records because he regarded them as his private property and also because he assured the members of the committee that they contained nothing bearing in any way on the Lorimer case.

"I know," replied Mr. Tilden, "that there was nothing in my books bearing upon the election of Senator Lorimer. I made this statement under oath and did not regard it as fair for the committee to go through my books."

Rush Culver, former mayor of Marquette, Mich., John McLeod of Buffalo, Hush McLean of North Tonawanda, N. Y., and William F. McKnight, an attorney of Grand Rapids, and former Democratic national committeeman, testified before Tilden was called. They all denied knowledge of alleged corruption in Senator Lorimer's election and stated that they had never heard Hines say that money had been used in Lorimer's election.

M'GRAW LIKES NERVOUS BALL TOSSERS.

"I like a nervous ball player rather than a cold, indifferent one," says Manager McGraw of the New York Giants.

"The combination is too much for most men, but nervousness is not a drawback. I like athletes with temperament. It is imagination that ultimately leads them to do almost the impossible when the great test comes. It is of especial value in games in which the men come into physical contact, like baseball, football and lacrosse. The first contact with the player of the opposing team usually settles the stage fright unless the man is hopeless, and after that he has his nerve, not his nerves, to fall back upon."

NEW BALL CHANGED PITCHING

Strike Out Twirler Only One Who Is Now Successful.

The strikethrowers continue to be the winners, and they are the only boys who can make good with the lively ball. Amos Rusie, were he in the game again, would be a king, for Amos always threw for the third strike and barreled a lot of them. So did Tim Keefe, who maintained that you were pretty sure of your man when he missed three and there was a reliable catcher. If he hit it somebody might wobble in the field, so it was safest to collect the guys on strikes. John Clarkson, per contra, always worked for his field, and John would get the stuffing beat out of him this summer.

The heady pitcher who lays them over and trusts to his support is up a tree this year. Somebody is always apt to whack one too hard for the support to get under it. It takes a man who fans them to win, because when they fan they don't even advance any one who may be on the bases.

Young Alexander leads them all in winning games, and he also leads them all in fanning batters. Keefe of the Reds, who has the best showing so far, has struck out something like thirty-seven folks in seven full games, and time after time those strikeouts have saved his bacon.

lowers of pugilism the other side of the Atlantic are anxious to see Johnson in action and McIntosh is willing to hang up a good sized purse, it is more than likely that the pair will fight. Critics who have seen Wells fight say he is the most promising heavyweight developed in England in years. Although none expect Wells to defeat Johnson, experts abroad believe he will make a fairly good showing with the champion. Wells is twenty-three years of age and still growing. He is slightly built in the legs and waist. He has a wonderful reach and a fine pair of shoulders.

FRANK CHANCE IS KING OF TRADERS

Builds Up His Team at Expense of Other Clubs.

SELDOM MAKES BAD ONE.

Nearly Every Deal Which He Has Pulled Off Has Proved Beneficial to The Cubs—His Latest One With Boston Was Dandy.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago Nationals, is the David Harum of baseball. The leader of the Cubs has pulled off more successful deals than any other big league pilot and has never made a bad one. Chance with Charley Murphy's assistance, began to dicker for players to strengthen the Cubs in 1905. His first big deal was when he hypnotized St. Louis into parting with Mordecai Brown and Catcher O'Neill for Pitcher Jack Taylor, now pitching in the Central league. Taylor was about at the end of his big league string, but St. Louis did not realize it no more than it did that it had a great pitcher in "Three Fingers" Brown.

Catcher O'Neill, along with Pitcher Pfeffer, soon found his way to Boston, Chicago getting Catcher Pat Moran, who proved to be of great service in teaching young pitchers and helping out behind the bat occasionally.

Then Chance and Murphy mesmerized Garry Herrmann into trading Third Baseman Steinfeldt for Pitcher Weimer. The latter had been a star for the Cubs, but amounted to but little thereafter, while Steinfeldt shone on the Cub infield for years.

That same year Chance traded Pitcher Bert Briggs, Third Baseman Casey and Outfielders McCarthy and Maloney to Brooklyn for Sheekard. The latter is still a star member of the Cubs, while the others passed below the big league horizon several seasons ago.

Along in the middle of the 1906 season Chance got Garry Herrmann in a trading mood again and unloaded Bob Wicker on him and relieved Garry of Orvie Overall.

Chance then stood pat until 1910, when he cut loose again. Some of his veteran pitchers—Brown, Overall and Reulbach, for instance—did not get to going just right, and the peerless leader figured that if Chicago was going to win another pennant the pitching staff would have to be bolstered up. He had on hand a bunch of minor league recruits and unloaded Shortstop Tony Smith, Outfielder Davidson and Infielder Smith on Brooklyn, getting in exchange Pitcher McIntosh. The latter won thirteen and lost nine games, while none of the men traded has stuck to the big show.

A little later Luderus, Chance's first base understudy, was dispatched to Philadelphia for Pitcher Foxen. This was one deal which did not prove to be very beneficial from a Chicago standpoint, as Luderus has been a winner for the Phillies. On the other hand, Foxen has not been of much account as a Cub and was released recently.

On the day when the Chicago team was about to depart for the south to train last spring Infielder Scotty Inzerion, who had reported to accompany the team on its training trip, was sent with Pitcher Pfeffer to Boston for Infielder Sheen, a star utility man. Inzerion has batted well for Boston, but Chance seems to be satisfied with Sheen, who is a high class player.

All of which leads up to the last deal pulled off by Chance, a trade which has shown that Chance has lost none of his cunning as a dealer in athletic chattels. No wonder that Boston fans as well as Vice President Fiske are yelling murder. Kling, now on the tobaggon; Weaver, an ordinary pitcher; Griffin, an untired pitcher, and Kaiser, far from a wonder as an outfielder, in exchange for Graham, a catcher who is good now and who is improving; Wilbur Goode, a hard hitting outfielder, who seems to have improved as a fielder since he was a Nap; Cliff Curtis, a fair pitcher, and Collins, of whom but little is known. In other words, Chicago traded Kling for Graham and Curtis, as they are the only players in the deal worth consideration.

BROWNING THE WHEATS.

Skill of the Griddle Man and Something About the Small Boy Outside Who Watches.

Griddle man cooking cakes on a gas griddle set up in the restaurant's window; man in a white jacket and white, spread-top cook's cap.

Intent on his business, the cook bending over the griddle and pouring the batter out of a plated metal pitcher, says The New York Sun. An amateur could scarcely pour with the accuracy of results that he gets. An amateur might pour too little, more likely he would pour too much; but the griddle man hits it just right.

You see him pour for a cake and stop and tilt the pitcher up so that it won't drip and you are sure he hasn't poured enough, the spread of the batter on the griddle is so small; but as he shifts now and begins pouring the next cake, you see the batter spread and keep on spreading until it has reached exactly the proper dimensions.

From the second cake, for which despite what you've just seen, you think he hasn't poured enough either, he shifts to pour the third; and then you see the second cake spread out to the full dimensions like the first, and then you see the same thing precisely happen in the case of the third and then you see the three cakes cooking, each one of full size, each one exactly circular in its outline and all of exactly the same size—three perfect cakes.

So much for the skill of the expert griddle man.

Outside of this restaurant window and about a foot away from it runs a heavy brass railing and against this railing and looking in leans a small boy. Not a poor, ragged boy, with a thin, drawn, sorrowful face; he doesn't look wistful; he is just a healthy, husky small boy, with doubtless what most healthy boys do have, a good appetite, and very likely at this moment hungry.

Here he stands, leaning up against this brass railing, watching the griddle man cook the cakes and holding clasped against the railing in front of him—though of this he is just now quite forgetful—a little stick maybe a foot long, a stick he has picked up somewhere to have something to carry in his hands.

He sees the griddle man calmly contemplating the cakes and he sees him turn them deftly, bringing the beautifully browned under side of one after another upward into view and turning them so skillfully that each cake finds again with its batter side down precisely the place it held before and without a spot of batter. Then he sees the griddle man, always calm, turn half around and take in his left hand a plate from the top of a pile that stands at the end of the griddle, and then after a pause of just one moment to let them on their under side get their final perfect brown, he sees the griddle man start with his turner to take the cakes up.

Now the small boy lets go of the railing and straightens up—this is the climax of the whole business—he straightens up and throws that stick up to his eye, holding it there with both hands like a gun; and now the griddle man thrusts the thin-bladed long-handled turner under cake No. 1 and lifts it and tosses it to turn once in the air and then to fall neatly caught on the plate; and

"Bing!" says the small boy, as cake No. 1 comes down, and with gun held steady, all ready.

"Bing!" he says again as cake No. 2 drops on No. 1, and still all keyed up.

"Bing!" he says again when the third cake strikes, as if he was shooting at so many birds, birds that he would mighty like to land.

Then he leans over the railing again and sees the griddle man come for more cakes. All men have their hopes, ambitions, longings and that sort of thing, what these are depending somewhat on circumstances and our time of life; probably the source of delight for this small boy would be found in a plate of those griddle cakes.

The Pedigree of a Shirt.

Why does the being we call a "gentleman" wear around his neck a band of spotless whiteness and unbearable stiffness, at his wrists similar instruments of torture, and before his chest a rigidly starched linen plate? No one outside of a madhouse would call these articles of apparel agreeable. There is for the custom no reason at all drawn from comfort, hygiene, usefulness. There is, however, the ghost of a dead reason. Once upon a time a "gentleman" was presumed to do no work, and he dressed to show this, by putting on these visible signs that he never soiled his hands, sweated his neck, or bent his noble back. It matters not that we no longer believe in this definition of a gentleman—we did believe it once; its ghost rules on. No man is bold enough to appear in society without this impossible harness. Only a professional humorist, like Mark Twain, or someone who wishes to pose as a mild lunatic, dares rebel. Addison said that the man who would clothe himself according to common sense would find himself in jail within a week.

What Two Boys Have Done Other Boys May do.

The same rule that makes a successful business man makes a successful business boy; that is, to find something which people need, and then let them know that you can supply it. Of course, there are certain standards kinds of business of which every boy thinks—selling newspapers, or running errands, for example. But the really alert boys want to invent a business of his own.

Here is what a couple of boys of my acquaintance have done in a business way:

The best business boy I know is James Conroy, of Plainville. Like most boys, Jimmy had increased his spending money by shoveling snow, but in Plainville most of the sidewalk walks had taken care of themselves. This last winter Jimmy decided to extend his business and hire other boys to do the shoveling. So, late in November, he went from house to house, politely explaining that he proposed to make regular season contracts for shoveling snow, just as the man who cleans the New York streets does, at so much a cubic foot. He showed that it would be much more satisfactory to know, every time it snowed, that the shoveling would be done, and just how much it would cost, without waiting to make a bargain with any one who might come along. By this time people were interested, and when Jimmy measured their walks and showed them how much a three-inch snowfall would cost, most of them signed his contract.

Meanwhile Jimmy organized at school a shovel brigade of boys who agreed to report at the first snowfall, to work at a fair, fixed price, and to keep on working until his last sidewalk was finished. Jimmy signed each boy to a house and waited for the snow. Fortunately it came on Friday night, and Jimmy could use his brigade all day Saturday. Of course, some boys shirked, though that did not hurt Jimmy, for he paid only for work done; but it was a busy day for him, seeing that the walks were promptly and properly cleared, and collecting his payment.

The next storm was so heavy that it nearly swamped Jimmy; but he rose to the emergency, hired several men who preferred sure work to simply hunting for a job, and he made a good profit, for, of course, the more snow there was, the better for Jimmy.

In the spring he saw that the same system could be applied to mowing lawns; with better results, too, for he could give steady work to two men. So he made contracts for the season, basing his price on the number of square feet in the lawn. The last time I saw him he told me that he intended to try to get the work of cutting all the lawns and shoveling all the sidewalks which belonged to their small city!

Then there is Joe Sargent, of Monroe. Monroe is a "summer place" near a big city. Every night the business men come out from the city, and many of them, though they do not care to keep horses, prefer to drive from the station to their homes along the shore. Formerly, if they were fortunate, they found a disagreeable liverman or one of his untidy stable-boys waiting for the train. Sometimes there were no carriages at all, and sometimes, worse yet, when a carriage was ordered for a particular train, no carriage came and the business man lost his train—and his temper, too. Of course, people grumbled, but what could they do? They had to hire of Jones and take their chances, or else walk.

Last summer I found on the station platform an alert boy, about thirteen years old, whose "Carriage, sir?" sounded earnest and inviting. When I smiled, in some astonishment, the boy seized my suitcase, placed it carefully in an old carryall and darted for another passenger. I looked at the team. Everything, horse, harness, and carryall, was old, but everything was clean and well-polished. Decidedly, the new stable was worth trying, and I wondered who had started it.

Soon the boy returned with another passenger in tow, climbed aboard, and ducked "Get up!"

"Whom do you drive for?" I asked.

"For myself, sir," was the answer.

"You see, it's vacation, and I thought perhaps some people would ride with me if I started in business. So I took our old horse and hired this carryall. I hope I may have your trade, sir, this summer. I won't miss any trains if I can help it."

He had my promise on the spot. Many of the cottages tried him, and finding that he could be relied upon, became regular customers. Joe soon had more work than he could well do with his one team.

Then some business men clubbed together and lent him money to buy a second team. This was not charity, for it was worth while to be sure of catching the train, and Joe never failed. By the end of the summer he had bought the carryall and more than paid for the second team. This year he plans to start with three teams, and soon he will control the lively business of Monroe.—St. Nicholas.

Safe Makers Against Burglars.

Crime keeps pace with civilization, changes in the habits and customs of mankind lead to new offenses, while some good old stand-bys have become unpopular. First, some cautious person invented an iron, burglar-proof safe; immediately, declares a writer in "Appleton's," the cracksmen invented themselves. This declared a war of wits between the safemaker and the safe-breaker. The door to the original safe fitted in straight, like an ordinary door. They were so easy to open, by means of a jimmy, that they did not furnish the burglar with common amusement. It was unsportsmanlike.

The wedge-shaped door was somewhat more difficult, until the cracksmen found a way to manage it. Then Mr. Inventor devised a combination lock, and thought he had utterly outwitted the thief. But the no less ingenious thief bought him one, and mercifully studied out its weakness. At first he did not attempt to break the lock, but devoted himself to blowing it open. This was child's play. He put the door up the crack all the way around the door, except a tiny hole at the top and bottom. At the bottom hole he set a small shelf of very fine gunpowder. To the top hole he attached a vacuum pump. By exhausting the air from the safe he created a strong current at the lower hole, which sucked in the powder. Then he fired the safe. That was all.

New Department Added.

In addition to the best equipped French Chemical Dry Cleaning Plant west of Chicago, and a Shoe Repairing Shop second to none, I have just added at an expense of $300.00 one of the latest and most complete outfits for the Cleaning, Blocking and Rebinding of Stiff and Soft Felt, Panama and Straw Hats and can guarantee first class work in all departments. A trial will convince you of this fact.

MORE JOIN SEAMEN'S STRIKE

Ranks of Disaffected Largely Increased in All English Ports.

London, June 29.—The ranks of the striking seamen and dockers increased in almost every large port in England. While it seemed that the trouble had ended at Liverpool for all of the big companies, the crew of the Empress of Britain refused to work by demanding that the dockers' claims be met. They admitted that they were satisfied themselves, but said that the dockers had stood by them and they would stand by the dockers.

They marched to all the northern docks and within an hour had secured the adhesion of crews of ships of the entire north Atlantic trade. Soon 2,000 coal porters of the Cunard line joined them and the procession spread until more than 10,000 men were in line. The next recruits were the carmen, who have no grievance themselves, but support the dockers. The dockers are not fighting for an increase of wages, but for recognition of the union.

MADERO IN FIELD ALONE

General Trevino Not a Candidate and General Reyes is Unpopular.

Mexico City, June 29.—General Trevino of Monterey, has announced that he will not be a candidate for the presidency of Mexico against Francisco I. Madero. Fernando Calderon, mentioned as a candidate for vice president with Trevino, also refused to run. This leaves the field entirely to Madero as the only avowed candidate, although it is expected that opposition will develop before the election.

Much antagonism to General Reyes has developed recently.

SNOW STORM ON SUPERIOR

Freight Boats Anchor Until Fall Ceases—Low Temperatures.

Duluth, June 29.—Steamers down the lake are sending wireless messages stating that they are late because they have been held up by a snow storm this side of the Canadian "Soo." Snow fell in abundance, according to reports, all night. During the storm most of the freighters anchored and rode safe until the snow fall ceased.

Forty-one degrees with a stiff east wind blowing through the city streets brought out winter wraps in Duluth despite a brilliant sun.

TYPICAL GIFT FOR KING

George V. Receives Breadbasket but Bread Is Gone.

London, June 29.—Twenty thousand wheat growers of Saskatchewan, Canada's "breadbasket," sent to King George as a coronation present a silver breadbasket weighing twelve pounds and filled with bread made from Saskatchewan wheat flour.

It is supposed that some one stole the bread enroute, as it was not to be found when the basket reached England.

Takes 725 Passengers.

New York, June 29.—The biggest steamship in the world, the White Star liner Olympic, took out for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton the biggest number of first cabin passengers ever carried from this or any other port on a liner on the regular service. She has room for just 725, and that is the number she took.
